

The Genealogy of Croft 10 Calbost

Croft 10 was one of the crofts created in the second lotting of Calbost about 1852. The original crofter was Angus Finlayson, a son of the village, born in 1917, a son of Malcolm Finlayson, 14 Calbost. Angus married about 1841 and four members of his family of eight were born before he acquired croft 10. He must therefore have been a landless cottar in Calbost for 11 years before he became an official crofter.

Roderick Finlayson was a tailor by profession and he operated a tailors business and village grocery shop at Calbost. In the 1920s and 1930s he employed one and sometimes two assistants in his tailoring business. He catered for the whole of Park. After the Second World War the bespoke tailoring trade slowed down because of the ready-to-wear service provided by the multiple shops. The family then moved to Laxdale, Stornoway, where Roderick continued his tailoring business until retiring age.

Angus Finlayson, 1887, head of the above family, was a fishing boat skipper. He skippered the 'Sceptre', a 70 foot Zulu sailing boat and the motor boats 'Proceed 1' and 'Proceed 2'.

View of Croft 10 towards Calbost Bay

A view of croft 10 towards Calbost Bay, the photo was taken from croft 11 where part of the house of Kenneth Nicolson, No. 11, may be seen in the foreground on the left. This is the first white house in Calbost about 1890 or slightly before. It was converted from a thatched house.

Across the stream, right of centre, may be seen the house of Donald Finlayson 'Domhnuill Aonghais' (born 1845). His son Murdo lived in it until the 1950s. It was the last thatched house in Calbost and it was joined to the Hydro Electric supply in its latter years. In the centre is Murdo Finlayson's small new house and further on is the ruin of Alastair Aonghais' (born 1850's) house built about 1880. To the left of that may be seen the gable end of Roderick Finlayson's house (born 1884) with his tailors shop and grocery shop extending to the west of the dwelling house. Nearer the sea may be seen Angus Finlayson's house (born 1887). The plan of construction of this house was two stone and clay gable ends and timber sides and roof with both sides and roof covered in felt or canvas and an annual coat of coal tar applied to it.

Donald Finlayson, 1890-1952, son of 'Alastair Aonghais', 10 Calbost. Donald emigrated to Melbourne, Australia about 1908 at the age of about 18 years. He left Lewis on the mail boat 'Sheila' in the month of May and subsequently he named his first born daughter 'Sheila May'.

He worked in the docks and at sea mainly on pilot-boats and he joined the 5th Battalion A.I.F and fought at Gallipoli in the First World War where he was very badly wounded.

He married an Australian lady of American extraction, Vera Collins, and they had a family of four, two girls and two boys, Sheila, Ninette, Eric and Roderick.

They had a very traumatic experience when their younger son Roderick was kidnapped at the age of 16 years and despite a widespread search it was his remains that were eventually found three years later and his father was able to identify the clothing etc. Donald's health was indifferent since his experiences at Gallipoli, but he lived to the age of 62 years. He died in 1952 and his wife died a few months later also in 1952.

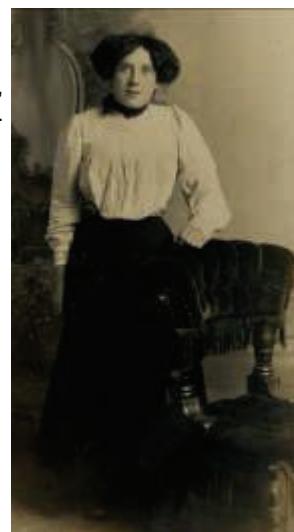

Ninette's daughter, Janet, came to Lewis on a working holiday and to meet her relations. While in Lewis she met and married her husband John Maciver, a teacher in the Nicolson Institute, Stornoway, and they set up home in Newvalley near Stornoway.

Marion Finlayson 'Meron' (Alasdair), 1891-1980, and her brother Roderick Finlayson 'Toum', 1884-1965.

Marion (unmarried) worked in Oban most of her life. As a young man Roderick served his trade as a tailor and worked in Oban. He was called up at the beginning of the First World War and served in the 2nd Seaforth Highlanders in the trenches on the Western Front, where he was awarded the 'Mons Star'.

His other three brothers also served in the First World War, Angus in the R.N.R., Donald in the Army, and John served at sea in both wars.

After the First World War, Roderick married Tina Mackenzie, 13 Marvig, and set up in business as a tailor at 10 Calbost serving the whole district of Park. He also operated a village grocery store until the family moved to Laxdale after the Second World War.

Copy Birth Certificate of Margaret Nicolson

A certificate certifying the date of birth of Margaret 'Peggy' Nicolson, daughter of Murdo Nicolson, 11 Calbost 'Murchaidh Mac Dhormhnuill ic Thormoid', and signed on behalf of the Kirk Session of the Lochs Free Church at Crossbost by Donald Mackinnon, Leurbost Session Clerk, in February 1916. When the Old Age Pension first came out, some of the older people in Lewis were unable to provide proof of their age by submitting an official certificate from the Registrar of Births and Deaths because their births were never recorded officially. Compulsory recording of births and deaths had not commenced in Lewis when the older people were born.

Peggy was the wife of Donald Finlayson 'Domhnuill Ruadh', 10 Calbost.

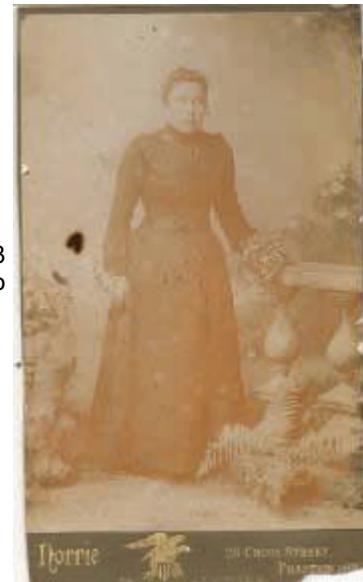

Fortunately, the Old Age Pension authorities accepted a baptismal certificate from the records of their local congregation, and they were most grateful to the Liberal Government who introduced this very necessary social reform.
